

Jacqueline “Saba”
Earley

LOVE
FOR THE JOURNEY

June
June
The sixth of June
Blood upon tonights full moon
Moon of Harvest?
Or
Moon of Revolution?

— • —

*I am Saba, the Revolutionary.
I am here,
Not to "do away with" existing structures,
I am here to create a new meaning.
I am a world citizen.
I have a planetary passport,
I will act as a world person.
I take responsibility for the earth, her loving laughter
 world within world within world ever after.*

— • —

Why arrive in a strange place and remain the same?
Marvel at the Truth! Surrender at the Name!
Wailing thru space and time is like a game, why
Open and remain the same?

Today is upon me!
I throw my dreams to the starchy sky
And witness the touchdown of tomorrow,
Upon today's horizon.
I speak at full bloom,
Sitting crosslegged on my launching pad,
Like the sun, silent and glad
For all I'm worth,
The spirit rides
My motorpsyche birth.
I, start breathing and seeing phenomenon
Unrooted and alone. I, gentle breeze
Waving the Poet of me.

Today,
Her nostrils are flared
On her chin there are hairs.
She stretches unglamourously,
Full of love for everyone,
Anyone would be a fool not to take her,
Bare shoulders,
Breast flush with summer sun
Sweet, honey, on the run
Love this womyn,
Her wine is ready.
Drink it.

